

Airplanes are noisy and stressful enough without adding cell phone chatter into the mix. I've seen altercations in planes just from someone talking slightly louder than normal. With cell phones the added noise would be unbearable.